OUTING OF THE STATESMAN AND HIS FRIENDS

EXCURSION OF THE ORIENTAL CLUB-BEER THE BEVERAGE ON ACCOUNT OF THE HARD

There are many incidents in the public career of the Hon. Timothy Justinian Campbell, Congressman from the VIIIth District, to make his name memo rable in the history of this great Republic, and it is only when one comes to consider which inciden should be put in the front and carefully framed that one is embarrassed. Mr. Campbell is known as Campbell, and he is the author of the phrase, "What is a little matter like the Constitution tween frinds?" He banked on this phrase and on the notoriety which it brought him for some time. But bigger things were in store for the man from County Cavan, and The Tribune duly recorded them

'I think the reporter is right," said William Mc-"I think the reporter is right," said William Mc-Laughlin. "They never use diminutives in the House of Commons, for instance." "Indeed," said "Silver Dollar" Smith.
"That's true," responded "Dry Dollar" Sullivan.
"I never heard the term 'Billy' Gladstone, for example."
"Til admit the truth of that."
"Billy" Geoghegan, the poet, chimed in: "But luring my last visit to Ireland I heard frequently my friend. Lord Randolph Churchill referred to as 'Randy."

'Randy.'
When the boat got under way there were songs and dances; aye, and even beer. Beer is not the staple article of drink with the Sons of Erin as a rule; but "Itm" said that the reason for this was that it "wouldn't look the thing" to be "drinkin champagne an Irish whiskey in these hard times. "Wait though," he exclaimed, "until the Tariff bill has passed." Those who had noticed the beer pressed Mr. Campbell's hand, upon which there was a cold perspiration, and vowed that they would wait.

was a cold perspiration, and vowed that they would wait.

The Congressman's baby was in evidence, and so was Mrs. Campbell. Even these two factors, however, did not make up for the absence of many politicians who have been on hand on former occasions, and it was the general opinion that the "outing" was attended by a smaller number of persons than at any time formerly.

These are the names of the officers of the Oriental Club, and they all worked hard and didn't drink even beer until everybody else had 'got on the outside" of as much of that beverage as was provided: T. J. Campbell, persident: Adolphus C. Horbacher, Henry M. Goldfogle, William Chapman, vice-presidents; Frank A. Spencer, Henry J. Bernstein, Ignatius J. Campbell, sercetaries; Alfred Nugent, treasurer; Owen Monahan, serseant-atarms. Board of Managers—Patrick Connolly, John E. Campbell, Thomas McCabe, Thomas Dowd, William N. The true measure of a man's greatness is what his neighbors think of him; and so when the statesmen who were present got up to speak at the dinner everybody listened. "Tim" himself led off, but the rattle of plates and things, the screaming of children and the sound of 500 volces all made it impossible to hear one word. His last words, however, were audible enough and referred to the war in the East. "This is the Oriental Club." he exclaimed, "and why should we not feel interested in an Oriental war? The Japs are jim-dandys. They will whip the heathen Chinee, an' don't you forget it." As Mr. Campbell sat down he was greeted with round upon round of cheering. Some other men made speeches in which reference was made to Mr. Campbell's "head and heart," as the reason why his name had survived, "while the names of many other men of National reputation have been long since forgotten."

Then they all got into the Laura M. Starin and came back to their beloved New-York.

The following letter was drawn up and, after being largely signed, was forwarded to him:

To the Hon. James Srolth, Jr., Senate Chamber, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir. We, the undersigned Democratic citizens of the village of South Orange, N. J., who in 1892 aided in the election of a Democratic State Senator and Assemblyman, whose acts and votes elected you to the United States Senate, and gave our suffrages to the Democracy and our support to you in your candidacy for the Senate, believing that the principles of the Democracy, as set out in the Chicago platform and in the President's letter of acceptance, would be carried out by the servants of Democracy, request that you give your adherence to the matters contained in the letter from President Cleveland to the Hon. W. L. Wilson on the 21 ultimo, and that you bend every effort to carry out the faith of the Democratic party and aid in the passing of such a measure of tariff reform as will command the approbation of the President of the United States and the support of the House of Representatives.

Camden, N. J., Aug. 7.-Ex-Judge John W. Wes cott and Herbert A. Drake, prominent Democrats of this city, have addressed an open letter to Senator James Smith, jr., which says: "Either do your duty at once, or with equal celerity resign, in rder that your place may be filled by a tariff reformer, such as you, before your selection, misrepresented yourself to be."

The letter further says: "To the Democratic party and its cardinal virtue, tariff reform, and to the country you have done incalculable damage in preventing beneficial legislation, which but for you and such as you would now be in successful operand."

on the scene to protect the man. They declared that the man had attempted to assault Ellen Hogan, three years old, in the cellar of the tenement-house. The child's mother had caught him there and had called other women in the house to her aid.

Killany arrested the man, who said his name was George Williams, but refused to tell where he lived. He declared that the women had made a mistake, and that he had not molested the little girl. He was so lame from the effects of the beating which he had received that he could barely walk to the Jefferson Market Police Court. There he was held for examination, and an agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children was directed to make an investigation.

AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

ARGUING OVER A LONG ISLAND LEASE. DECISION RESERVED ON THE MOTION TO RE-STRAIN THE RAILROAD FROM VIOLATING ITS AGREEMENT REGARDING THE

ATLANTIC-AVE. TRACKS. The arguments upon the motion for an injunction to restrain the Long Island Railroad Company from violating the provisions of its lease from the Avenue Railroad Company of the tracks in Atlantic-ave. were heard by Judge Gaynor in the Supreme Court yesterday. He took the papers In the case and reserved decision. General B. F. Tracy spoke for the injunction, and rehearsed the facts in the case. In 1877, the lease of the tracks from Flatbush-ave, to the Jamaica town line had been made for ninety-nine years. The Long Island company was to pay 10 per cent on the first $100,000 of receipts from traffic, and then down to 4 per cent, the minimum. The lease had provided that equal facilities for travel should be given to Brooklyn and to Long Island City. The company had conceded the breach of this clause, as there were forty-six eastbound trains from Long Island City, and only twenty-two from Brooklyn. Many Brooklyn passengers had to change cars at Jamaica and stand from there to their destinations. To get parlor-car seats it was necessary to telegraph from Brooklyn to Long Island City. This ill-treatment of Brooklyn passengers was notorious. On one day 1,500 Brooklyn passengers had been obliged to wait at Jamaica and take their chances of getting seats in cars from Long Island City. plain that the object of this was to discriminate ting seats in cars from Long Island City. It was plain that the object of this was to discriminate against Brooklyn travel, and so reduce the percentages to be paid under the lease. The Atlantic Avenue Company could no longer endure further violation of its rights. The losses sustained by reason of it were enormous, and a specific performance of the contract was asked to be enforced by the court. The people of Brooklyn were suffering by reason of the violation.

William J. Kelly, for the Long Island Company, argued in opposition. He said that the travel was twice as great from Long Island City as from Brooklyn, and so more facilities had to be provided. Equality of service did not mean an equal number of trains, unless the travel was equal. The action was between two railroad companies, and did not represent the people. When Benjamin Norton, president of the Atlantic Avenue Company, was superintendent of the Long Island road in 1892 there were no through trains from Brooklyn, and only nine made connections at Jamaica. Now there were twenty-two through trains. The Long Island company was giving the people of Brooklyn as complete a service as possible at present. There would not be as much travel to and from Brooklyn as to and from Long Island City until connections with the Bridge were improved. A new station, costing $275,000, had recently been erected in Brooklyn, and solid trains were run through from $29,000 to $26,000 a year.

In conclusion Mr. Kelly said: "As for the solicitude of the Atlantic Avenue Company varied from $29,000 to $20,000 at 205."

cratic leader of the Sixteenth Ward, and Raiph Raphael, a real estate agent, got into a dispute in George Koch's liquor store, Graham-ave, and Meserole-st., late on Monday. Raphael selzed a beer mug from the bar and hurled it at the young lawyer. The mug struck Beck on the right side of the head, inflicting an ugly wound, and knocking him unconscious. It was first feared that Beck's skull was fractured. The wound was dressed, and he was taken home. No arrest was made.

BIDS SHOULD BE ASKED FOR EXTRA WORK. Judge Bartlett handed down a decision granting an injunction pending trial yesterday in the suit brought in behalf of Daniel Moynahan to prevent the payment by the County Treasurer of the bill of James W. Birkett for $75,125 10 for extra work under a contract at the County Farm, so far as it per-tains to sewer trenching and sheathing. He denied the injunction so far as the work done was granite paving. The injunction covers about two-thirds of the bill. The extra work done by the contractor. Birkett, was 38,000 cubic yards of sewer trenching at $17,100, 26,000 feet of sheathing at $27,25, and 12,525 square yards of granite paving at $22,525, and 12,525 square yards of granite paving at $22,525 and 12,525 square yards of granite paving at $22,525 and 12,525 square yards of granite paving at $22,525 and 12,525 square yards of granite paving at $22,525 and 12,525 square yards of granite paving at $22,525 and 12,525 square yards of granite paving at $22,525 and 12,525 square yards of granite paving at $22,525 and 12,525 square yards in the view of the board to support to get all the work done under a contract, whether it be the principal part of the understanding or additional labor which may be requisite, done at the lowest price at which a responsible person will agree to do it. He was seen his week by the detectives who were following the clews which led them to the farm of Lorenzo Hoyt at Bethel, Conn., and they took him with them, beleving that he was one of the counterfeiters. After the discovery of the counterfeit notes, imitation fibre paper, counterfeit plates and printing machinery at the farm of Lorenzo Hoyt, Murphey disappeared again. On Monday, when the two Hoyts and Massey were under arrest, Murphey coolly walkel into the Secret Service Bureau and demanded $1.000 as a reward for the capture of the other counterfeiters. He was placed under arrest then, and he is believed to have been in the counterfeiting business under other names than that of Murphey.

feiting business under other names than that of Murphey.

Several manufacturers of paper yesterday examined the imitation fibre paper which was found in the possession of the counterfeiters, and they all said there were not known to be any machines in this country, except those under the control of the Government, with which such paper could be made. It is believed that the counterfeiters had the paper manufactured for them in Europe. In this country the manufacture of such paper by any person, except for the use of the Government, is a crime. New-Haven, Aug. 7.—Lorenzo Hoyt, the Betheiman, who was arrested yesterday for complicity in the counterfeiting operations, detailed in previous dispatches, was taken before United States Commissioner Wright here last night and bound over to the United States Court in $2.000 honds. He furnished the surety and was released from custody. Hoyt left the city at once, going West, it is said here that he will tell all he knows of the counterfeiting operations and by this means escape the full penalty provided in such cases, or he may escape punishment altogether. The three United States detectives went to New-York to bring the other offenders to this city for a hearing.

ZEIMER & CO.'S FAILURE.

A HARD STRUGGLE FOR A RECENTLY ESTAB-LISHED DRYGOODS FIRM.

Zeimer & Co., dealers in drygoods at Nos. 225 and day, having been in business not quite two years, Jacob H. Flashner and Noel Feldstein, made a general assignment to Simon Schwartz, giving preference to Samuel Zeimer, father of one of the partners, for $24,771, for rent of the store paid by him. and for merchandise sold to the firm by Zeimer & Feldstein, which claim was assigned to Samuel Zeimer. The firm started in October, 1892, a new business in a new store, occupying the entire buildwhich had been erected on the site of the old West Side Hotel. It was said that they had a cash capital of $150,000 when they began business, of which Israel Zeimer contributed $60,000, said to have been furnished by his father; Noel Feldstein, $20,000, also said to have been furnished by his father; Mr. Flashner $20,000, and Mr. Westhelmer $19,000. The new firm had a hard time from the start, having to meet with strong competition of outerstablished houses, and also the financial depression of the last fifteen months. The result of the first year's business showed a loss, but the firm said they experied that when they began, and it was not so large as to discourage them. This year's business did not show, it is said, any improvement, and in March last Bradstreet's took away the firm's capital rating, as the firm admitted that they had made no maney since starting. Several credit. and in March last Bradstreet's took away the firm's capital rating, as the firm admitted that they had made no money since starting. Several creditors yesterday put their claims in the hands of Herman Joseph, Horwitz & Hershifeld and other lawyers for writs of replevin. Kurzman & Frankenheimer, attorneys for the firm, say that the liabilities are about $2,000 of which $55,000 is for merchandise and $27,000 for borrowed money. Included in these is the preference to Samuel Zeimer, of which $7,000 is for borrowed money and $7,000 for merchandise. Their assets at cost price exceed the habilities, and consist of a large stock of goods and fixures. The actual value will be known when the inventory is completed in a few days.

REPLYING TO ASSERTIONS ABOUT THE METHOD OF SPENDING THAT $1,000,000 - AN EX-PECTED BACKDOWN ON THE LAND-SCAPE ARCHITECT QUESTION.

President Clausen, of the Park Board, came into the city yesterday from his summer retreat, and sat in his office in the Emigrant Savings Institution Building talking about the charges of George Tom-bleson, walking delegate, made at Sunday's meeting of the Central Labor Union. Mr. Clausen seemed a good deal hurt that the newspapers should pay any attention to Tombleson's statements. "I have given the papers all the facts relating to the exhe said, "with the balance on hand, and have nothing to add to these statements. The books of the Finance and Park departments show that $580,000 of the $1,000,000 has been paid out, leaving $420,000 Board of Estimate for work which will cost $220,000. leaving but $100,000 unexpended on October 1."

As to Tombleson's charge that the department is paying Slattery, a contractor, $10 a day for derricks for rock work, which were scarcely worth $250 each, although $1,000 aptece had been paid the contractor for their use, Mr. Clausen said;

"The Park Commissioners, in their strenuous ef-forts to get the work for the unemployed started, had no time to walt for derricks to be built. The same people who are 'jumping' on us now were abusing us last winter because we did not get idle

During the summer months, out of the fifteen police justices and find a during a policy of the first policy justices assigned to the Court of Special Sessions do not sit during August, and their places are supplied by the justice sitting in Jefferson Market, Essex Market and the Tombs Courts. There were, yesterday, over ninety cases on the calendar, and it took Justices Ryan, Voorhis and Somms from 11:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. to dispose of them. In consequence, the afternoon sessions in the three courts mentioned, which generally begin at 2 p. m., did not begin until after 4.

LIEBER TO BE SENT BACK TO GERMANY, Frederick William Lieber, formerly city cashier of Frankfort-on-the-Maine, was yesterday placed in charge of Captain Willigerod, of the steamer Spree, to be taken back to Frankfort-on-the-Maine to answer seventeen charges of embezzlement. Lieber was arrested three months ago on Staten Island, and since then has been in Ludlow Street Jail upon an order of commitment granted by United States Commissioner Lyman a swaiting the arrival of the states of the states

FOR KICKING A MELON PEEL IN THE RIVER James Duffy, a 'longshoreman, was on Monday afternoon helping to unload some watermelons from a Pennsylvania Railroad car at Pier No. 29. North River. He was standing on a plank, and as the meions were pitched to him he pitched them to a man on the wharf. Part of a meion fell on the plank. and he kicked it into the river. United States Deputy Inspector Leyden, of the office of the Supervisor of the Harbor, saw the violation of the law. He summoned Policeman Walter Brown, and directed him to arrest Duffy, which was done. Duffy was taken to the station-house and locked up all night. This morning he was taken to the Jefferson Market Police Court. The Police Justice had serious doubt on the question of jurisdiction. It was finally decided to be clearly a case for the United States courts, and Duffy was sent to the Federal Court and arraigned before United States Countied. Assistant District-Attorney Ball submitted the case. The Commissioner listened with most careful attention to the testimony. Duffy was discharged. the Harbor, saw the violation of the law. He sum-
